Concern for environmental degradation, conservation of water and other natural resources was expressed by drawing beautiful posters

Also, the children used this solitary time to pen down their thoughts to reassess our current habits and develop new ones that are better for the planet.

All these activities helped in developing a sense of responsibility and appreciation for the Earth. We belong to one connected family on Earth, share a single planet, drink from the same water and breathe the same air and so each one of us need to play our part and be a good caretaker of our planet.
