Virtual Book Week Celebrations

29.7.2020 to 4.8.2020

. Maya Angelou

The School organized "Book Week" to promote the linguistic capabilities and instill good reading practices in students. Over the week, a 'Book Fair' was set up virtually, where students navigated through the new arrivals. The school organized an online Storytelling session with Ms. Neelam Narang, a revered anthropologist affiliated with Scholastic India.

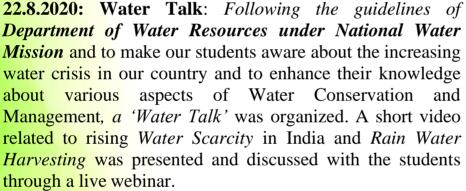

Various events were arranged for students to highlight their innate creativity and imagination. Taking the scale higher, in Class I, the learners were encouraged to colour 'Pinocchio' a character from the fairy tale which was followed by 'Word Search' for Class II. Class III students were quizzed about the famous stories for children. To inculcate the moral and ethical characteristics in students, Class IV students were inspired to emphasize on the qualities of their favourite story character and narrate them in few lines. Creativity and Reading skills were synthesized in students of Class V as they were stimulated to make a bookmark and book cover.
